

R.E.A.C.H. (Rush Equipment Assisting Children) is a program that collects used or unwanted soccer equipment from Rush and other community members to donate to underprivileged children throughout the world. The generous donation of a soccer ball or soccer shirt can make a world of difference to a child that is going through troubled times.

Rush encourages their members to donate used, unwanted or even new soccer equipment, such as balls, shoes, and shin guards so they can be distributed throughout the world to needy children.

"I've never had to walk 5 miles for a bucket of water and then head to soccer practice. I don't have to worry about malaria while resting up for a game. I haven't had to use garbage to make shift a ball, play barefoot on a rocky field or be concerned that my team doesn't have jerseys. It became very real to me that I had taken for granted the amenities. Cleats, jerseys, soccer balls are not automatically on hand, as I had known them to be growing up with the game." - Rush member
